

Profile of Innocent Hope Ntalika

MARTIAL ARTS INSTRUCTOR | PRESIDENT OF MALAWI FULL CONTACT KARATE FEDERATION | NATIONAL TECHNICAL DIRECTOR (COACH) | FOUNDER, CHECHINO KYOKUSHIN KARATE & FITNESS ACADEMY

Innocent Hope Ntalika is a martial artist, instructor, and community leader from Malawi. After nearly 30 years in martial arts, he has dedicated his career to training students, coaching athletes, and promoting Kyokushin Karate across Malawi.

Over the years, he has used martial arts not only as a sport, but also as a way to guide and support young people. Through his teaching, he emphasizes discipline, confidence, respect, and self-control; values he believes are just as important outside the dojo as they are inside it.

Mr. Ntalika currently serves as President of the Malawi Full Contact Karate Federation and as National Technical Director (Coach). He is also Deputy Branch Chief of the International Karate Organisation (IKO Matsushima) in Malawi.

He is the founder and Chief Instructor of Chechino Kyokushin Karate & Fitness Academy, based at Bingu National Stadium in Lilongwe. The academy is affiliated with IKO Matsushima Full Contact South Africa and operates under the Malawi Full Contact Karate Federation and the Malawi Council of Sports.

Through the academy, he trains hundreds of children, students, young people, women, professionals, and security personnel in karate, fitness, self-defense, and athletic training. His coaching focuses not only on physical skills, but also on discipline, focus, consistency, and teamwork.

An important part of his work is supporting women and girls through self-defense training. He has developed programs aimed at helping participants protect themselves against physical abuse and gender-based violence, while also building confidence and personal safety awareness.

In addition to his work in the dojo, Mr. Ntalika teaches karate in several schools, including Bedir International High School, ABC Academy, Mount Sinai International Schools, and Bambino High School. He has also worked with NGO's such as Amref Health Africa in Malawi, where he provides fitness and wellness training, aerobics, and team-building activities for staff and groups.

He also provides practical self-defense and combat training for security guards and bodyguards, focusing on hand-to-hand combat skills, tactical movement, coordination, and professional self-defense techniques.

His martial arts qualifications include:

- 2nd Dan Kyokushin Karate (with longstanding experience beyond his current rank)
- International Level B Instructor
- 2nd Dan Shotokan Karate
- 1st Dan Goju-Ryu Karate
- 1st Dan Jujitsu
- 1st Kyu Shorinji Kempo

Mr. Ntalika specializes in Kumite, or full-contact fighting, and has participated in a number of international tournaments throughout his career.

Although he holds a Bachelor of Science in Forestry from the University of Malawi-Bunda College, Mr. Ntalika chose to dedicate his professional life to martial arts and youth development.

For Mr. Ntalika, karate is more than a sport. He sees it as a way of life built on respect, discipline, perseverance, and integrity. Through his work, he hopes to help students build confidence, character, and resilience both inside and outside the dojo, while continuing to preserve and pass on traditional martial arts values.

His combination of technical experience, leadership roles, and community work makes him a strong representative of Malawi's martial arts community. Participation in this opportunity would support both his professional development and the work he continues to do with young athletes and communities in Malawi.
